

Oxfordshire History Centre: Guidelines on retention and disposal of private records

This guidance is for private individuals wishing to transfer their archives, including digital material, to Oxfordshire History Centre (OHC) for long-term preservation of and general access to the documents. It assumes that the records under consideration are no longer required for legal or administrative purposes.

Due to storage space and staff time, documents in the schedule marked 'destroy' should be disposed of by the individual(s). Material earmarked for deposit at the History Centre should be box-listed prior to being brought in, so that staff are aware of the potential quantity and types. Please keep the records together to reflect the way they were created, as far as possible, but do not re-package items (e.g. in plastic wallets) or use additional paper clips or staples.

Ownership of the records can be retained by the individual(s) or can be transferred to OHC. Any items which, after appraisal by OHC staff, are deemed unsuitable for permanent preservation will be offered back to the business or destroyed securely, depending on what was agreed at time of deposit.

For collections that consist solely of printed and published material, you may be directed to OHC Local Studies staff for a more appropriate response.

OHC is happy to accept born digital material, but please indicate before deposit, the types of digital material you have. For records not covered by the schedule below, please ask History Centre staff for specific advice.

Please note that we cannot accept any artefacts.
