

FENG SHUI

FOR WORKING FROM HOME

AVOID THE SOFA

This provides a space that can energetically separate your living and working life.

Position your desk so that the back of your chair has the support of a solid wall. When you sit at your desk you should have a good view of the full room.

It's a good idea to avoid sitting with your back to the window or open shelves.

According to Feng Shui, open shelves act as arrows in your back and a window in your back can make you feel unsupported.

FACE THE WINDOW

CLEAR THE CLUTTER

Avoid placing work files and paperwork on the floor as it signifies a deterioration of your business / career.

You should not work from the bedroom. Ideally you should have a home office.

If you have a choice of rooms, the East and South-East rooms are great for working.

AVOID THE BEDROOM