

School Life Easy as Pie?

Information pack on running a Listening Post (focus group) for children and young people

Why find out views and feedback from students?

Schools and education authorities have a duty to provide reasonable adjustments for disabled pupils, originally under the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 and more recently under the Equality Act 2010. This pack is for schools to use with students to find out how accessible school is and what changes would make a difference.

School life: Right for you?

Your views on getting the right help at school

Would pupils with SEN or a disability like to have their views heard?

In ADD DATE pupils have the chance to take part in a 'Listening Post' a session led to have their views heard.

We are getting a snapshot of views from pupils with a disability on how they learn successfully and participate fully in every bit of school life. The findings will be use in the XX SCHOOL DEVELOPMENT PLAN

Pupils who take part get a XXXX, and certificate. Pupils involvement will also be helpful when reviewing your own School Accessibility Plan.

Background:

As part of Oxfordshire County Council Schools Accessibility Strategy - which sets out plans to increase access to education for disabled pupils - it is important to hear directly from Sen and disabled pupils.

*A disabled pupil is one who has a physical or mental impairment that has a long term and substantial effect on his or her ability to carry out normal day to day activities. In practice many, but not all, disabled pupils also have special educational needs (SEN).

School Life: As easy as pie?

The basic questions are:

what's working well for you?

what helps?

what get's in the way?
